

Bits & Bytes Computer Club Google+ Community

We have a place now where our Members (and Friends) can ask questions, answer questions, and share interesting information about our passion – electronic gadgets!

If you have never joined Google+, then have a look here for some sign up hints:

After joining, you should look for our Community – “Bits & Bytes Computer Club”. As of Sept 17th we have 17 participants in the community. You can look here for help finding, and joining, our community:

Membership in our Community is limited to members, and special friends of Bits & Bytes (like some of our Presenters), and that’s why you need to request to join.

Participate. Enjoy.
