

USING FLICKR TO BACK UP AND SHARE PICTURES

Flickr has two types of accounts

1. Free account - Allows up to 1,000 photos
  - You and people who look at your pictures will see ads.
2. Pro account for which you pay
  - includes unlimited number of photos
  - photos remain in their original size and quality
  - photos can be organized into Albums
  - Albums can be shared with others via an email link

Once you have signed up for an account

Uploading and organizing photos.

1. Log into flickr
2. Click on "You" next to flickr at top left to see you options
3. Click the Upload icon (cloud with up arrow) near the top right of the page
4. Click on "Choose photos and videos to upload"
5. Navigate to the folder that has the pictures you want to upload
6. Select pictures you want to upload to Flickr
7. Click "Open" button
8. At left you have a number of options:
  - Add a description - allows you to add information about the picture
  - Add people - you can include peoples' names
  - Add to albums - allows you to choose (or create) albums you want the pictures in
9. Click "Add to albums" (albums can be like folders on your computer
  - either choose an album or albums to which you want to add the selected pictures
  - or click "Create a new album" and type in a name for the album
  - You can also add an album description
10. Click "Done"
11. Then click "Upload XXX (number of photos you've selected) Photos"
12. Then click "upload" that shows up in middle of page